TK - 2nd Grade Recommended Books

1. Mango, Abuela, and Me by Meg Medina

Mia's abuela has left her sunny house with parrots and palm trees to live with Mia and her parents in the city. The night she arrives, Mia tries to share her favorite book with Abuela before they go to sleep and discovers that Abuela can't read the words inside. So while they cook, Mia helps Abuela learn English ("Dough. Masa"), and Mia learns some Spanish too, but it's still hard for Abuela to learn the words she needs to tell Mia all her stories. Then Mia sees a parrot in the pet-shop window and has the perfecto idea for how to help.

2. Last Stop on Market Street by Matt de la Peña

Every Sunday after church, CJ and his grandma ride the bus across town. But today, CJ wonders why they don't own a car like his friend Colby. Why doesn't he have an iPod like the boys on the bus? How come they always have to get off in the dirty part of town? Each question is met with an encouraging answer from Grandma, who helps him see the beauty and fun in their routine and the world around them

3. Turning Pages: My Life Story by Sonia Sotomayor

As the first Latina Supreme Court Justice, Sonia Sotomayor has inspired young people around the world to reach for their dreams. But what inspired her? For young Sonia, the answer was books! They were her mirrors, her maps, her friends, and her teachers. They helped her to connect with her family in New York and in Puerto Rico, to deal with her diabetes diagnosis, to cope with her father's death, to uncover the secrets of the world, and to dream of a future for herself in which anything was possible.

4. Alma and How She Got Her Name by Juana Martinez-Neal

If you ask her, Alma Sofia Esperanza José Pura Candela has way too many names: six! How did such a small person wind up with such a large name? Alma turns to Daddy for an answer and learns of Sofia, the grandmother who loved books and flowers; Esperanza, the great-grandmother who longed to travel; José, the grandfather who was an artist; and other namesakes, too. As she hears the story of her name, Alma starts to think it might be a perfect fit after all — and realizes that she will one day have her own story to tell.

5. My Name is Celia: The Life of Celia Cruz / Me llamo Celia: La Vida de Celia Cruz by Monica Brown

Sing, clap, shake, and dance as Celia Cruz narrates her life in this colorfully illustrated story filled with the sounds and rhythms of her tropical homeland, Cuba. Celia recounts her childhood in Havana and her rise to becoming the Queen of Salsa, all with the "sugar" that reminds her of the love, warmth, and kisses of the home she left behind. A lyrical biography, perfect for reading aloud.

3rd - 5th Grade Recommended Books

1. Side by side: the story of Dolores Huerta and César Chávez / Lado a lado: la historia de Dolores Huerta y César Chávez by Monica Brown

Every day, thousands of farmworkers harvested the food that ended up on kitchen tables all over the country. But at the end of the day, when the workers sat down to eat, there were only beans on their own tables. Then Dolores Huerta and Cesar Chavez teamed up. Together they motivated the workers to fight for their rights and, in the process, changed history.

2. Portraits of Hispanic American Heroes by Juan Felipe Herrera

An inspiring tribute to Hispanic Americans who have made a positive impact on the world. This stunning book showcases 20 Hispanic and Latino American men and women who have made outstanding contributions to the arts, politics, science, humanitarianism, and athletics.

3. Separate is Never Equal: Sylvia Mendez and Her Family's Fight for Segregation by Duncan Tonatiuh

Almost 10 years before "Brown vs. Board of Education," Sylvia Mendez and her parents helped end school segregation in California. An American citizen of Mexican and Puerto Rican heritage who spoke and wrote perfect English, Mendez was denied enrollment to a Whites only school. Her parents took action by organizing the Hispanic community and filing a lawsuit in federal district court.

4. Dreamers by Yuyi Morales

Yuyi Morales tells her own immigration story in this picture-book tribute to the transformative power of hope and reading. In 1994, Yuyi Morales left her home in Xalapa, Mexico and came to the US with her son. She left behind nearly everything, but she didn't come empty-handed. Dreamers is a celebration of what migrants bring with them. It's a story to remind us that we are all dreamers, bringing our own gifts wherever we roam.

5. Abuela's Weave by Omar Castaneda

Esperanza's Abuela, her grandmother, is unmatched in her skill in weaving traditional Mayan tapestries. She has shared her gift with her granddaughter, and now they plan to sell their goods at the market. However, the birthmark on Abuela's face may scare customers away. So Esperanza must cope with the city streets and find buyers alone. This touching story of personal growth and family pride is illustrated with authentic Guatemalan scenery that gives life to the country's radiant landscape and bustling city streets.

6th - 8th Grade Recommended Books

1. Schomburg: The Man Who Built a Library by Carole Boston Weatherford

Amid the scholars, poets, authors, and artists of the Harlem Renaissance stood an Afro–Puerto Rican named Arturo Schomburg. This law clerk's life's passion was to collect books, letters, music, and art from Africa and the African Diaspora and bring to light the achievements of people of African descent through the ages. A century later, his groundbreaking collection has become a beacon to scholars all over the world.

2. From North to South / Del Norte al Sur by Rene Colato Lainez

Jose loves helping Mama in the garden outside their home in CA. But when Mama is sent back to Mexico for not having citizenship papers, Jose and his Papa face an uncertain future. Award-winning children's book author Rene Colato Lainez tackles the difficult and timely subject of family separation with exquisite tenderness.

3. Lucky Broken Girl by Ruth Behar

Ruthie Mizrahi and her family recently emigrated from Castro's Cuba to New York City. Just when she's finally beginning to gain confidence in her mastery of English, a horrific car accident leaves her in a body cast and confined her to her bed for a long recovery. As Ruthie's world shrinks because of her inability to move, her powers of observation and her heart grow larger and she comes to understand how vulnerable we all are as human beings, and how friends, neighbors, and the power of the arts can sweeten even the worst of times.

4. Us, In Progress: Short Stories About Young Latinos by Lulu Delacre

Puerto Rican author Lulu Delacre writes 12 short stories about what it means to be Latinx in the U.S. today. Readers will meet a young girl who spends the day on her father's burrito truck, two sisters working together to change the older sister's immigration status, and more. Short stories are often the just-right thing for reluctant readers who have low reading stamina.

5. Bad Hair Does Not Exist / Pelo Malo No Existe by Sulma Arzu-Brown

This is a book with an anti-bullying message that reinforces respect for individualism. The term "bad hair" or "pelo malo" is used to describe hair that is usually of curlier texture or of a thick and coarse density. The book's purpose is to empower all children by giving them alternate terms to describe their hair, and teaching them the importance of respecting one another's differences.

9th - 12th Grade Recommended Books

1. In the Time of the Butterflies by Julia Alvarez

In 1960, three sisters were found near their wrecked Jeep in the Dominican Republic. The official state newspaper reports do not explain that the sisters were among the leading opponents of Gen; Rafael Leónidas Trujillo's dictatorship. But everybody knows of Las Mariposas--the Butterflies. The voices of the sisters tell their own stories, and to describe the everyday horrors of life under Trujillo's rule. The martyred Butterflies live again in this novel of courage and love.

2. The Poet Slave of Cuba: Juan Francisco Manzano by Margarita Engle

Born into the household of a wealthy slave owner in Cuba in 1797, Juan Francisco Manzano spent his early years by the side of a woman who made him call her Mama, even though he had a mama of his own. Denied an education, young Juan still showed an exceptional talent for poetry. Powerful, haunting poems and breathtaking illustrations create a portrait of a life in which even the pain of slavery could not extinguish the capacity for hope.

3. The Carrying: Poems by Ada Limón

Vulnerable, tender, acute, these are serious poems, brave poems, exploring with honesty the ambiguous moment between the rapture of youth and the grace of acceptance. A daughter tends to aging parents. A nation convulses: "Every song of this country / has an unsung third stanza, something brutal." And still Limón shows us, as ever, the persistence of hunger, love, and joy, the dizzying fullness of our too-short lives. "Fine then, / I'll take it," she writes. "I'll take it all."

4. Aristotle and Dante Discover the Secrets of the Universe by Benjamin Sáenz

Set in El Paso, "Aristotle and Dante Discover The Secrets of the Universe" is the story of two loners who strike up an unusual friendship and later, something more. This book is great for teenagers (particular gay teenagers) who think they're alone in the world and in their struggles. This book is a reminder that everyone will find their place and their people.

5. The Book of Unknown Americans by Cristina Henríquez

When 15-year-old Maribel Rivera sustains a terrible injury, the Riveras leave behind a comfortable life in Mexico and risk everything to come to the U.S. so that Maribel can have care she needs. It's not long before Maribel attracts the attention of the neighbor's son, who sees a kindred spirit. Their love story sets in motion events that will have profound repercussions. The Book of Unknown Americans is a stunning novel of hopes and dreams, guilt and love—a book that offers a resonant new definition of what it means to be American.
